The Assessors of the various counties in Missouri were in conference with the newly appointed tax commission at Jefferson City last Thursday. The Assessors were instructed by the Commission that in future all property, both real and personal, must be assessed at its actual cash value. This always has been the law but it made to him as "formerly with the This always has been the law but it never has been enforced. Following these instructions and in compliance with his oath of office, Assessor Marshall wishes to inform the people of Iron county that he intends to use every effort to strictly follow the law. Valuations on lists which have already been returned to him will be changed to comply with the new requirements when the Assessor's books are made up in the latter part of the year. He wants it understood that all property in Iron coudty will be assessed at one hundred cents on the dollar.

An amusing story is told in connection with a joint in St. Francois county, not far from the Iron county line. For a long'time past it has been alleged quietly that all kinds of boose have been dispensed at the aforesaid joint in absolute defiance of the law in such cases made and provided. Reports of what was going on must have finally reached the ears of the St. Francois county authorities at Farming-ton for on three different occasions in the past two weeks the place has been the past two weeks the place has been raided by the officials but nothing but soft drinks found in stock. Here is the funny part of the story. A fellow the funny part of the story. He waived a preliminary examination and was held for circuit court, and now is in a fair way to the penitentiary-just for fifty cents. It is said this is not the first offense of this nature committed by Hasty, but he has never been prosecuted before. He had an idea, it is said, that so long as he confined his operations to small amounts, nothing much could be done with him. Saturday last, when Hasty was sent by the Sheriff to get a bucket of water he attempted to make his "get-away" but was recaptured at the old hub factory where he was trying to hide from the officials.
